

Whole-person assessment

At Sova we ask less, but learn more by blending personality, ability, motivation, and situational judgment questions into one highly condensed and personalised assessment. Built around your specific needs, we measure what matters in your organisation and enable you to get a rounded view of every candidate. Whole-person assessment is a fairer way to assess candidates, built on potential and predictors of success, rather than past performance.

Why use Sova's whole-person assessment?

At Sova we developed whole-person assessment so companies can measure all the factors that matter at once, through one assessment, fairly and objectively. This approach offers:

- A better candidate experience with a faster, more efficient assessment process.
- A more effective and precise way to measure what matters in your organisation.
- Streamlining of the hiring funnel with fewer steps and more efficient screening.
- Personalised, automated feedback for every candidate.
- A fairer approach that delivers on diversity outcomes.
- A communications channel between organisation and candidate that includes videos, information, and resources throughout the assessment process.

Blended Approach

We recommend a combination of question types blended together in one single test. This has been found to greatly mitigate adverse impact compared to traditional tests, whilst giving sharp and focused predictions about the key qualities and characteristics that will lead to successful job performance.

We have numerous client examples where we implemented blended online solutions and found zero adverse impact effect as a direct result.

No Test Timers

We have no 'test timer' in the cognitive ability to overcome the gender differences that often exist. Research shows that men's and women's responses differ to stress and therefore the presence of a countdown timer within traditional ability tests are different.

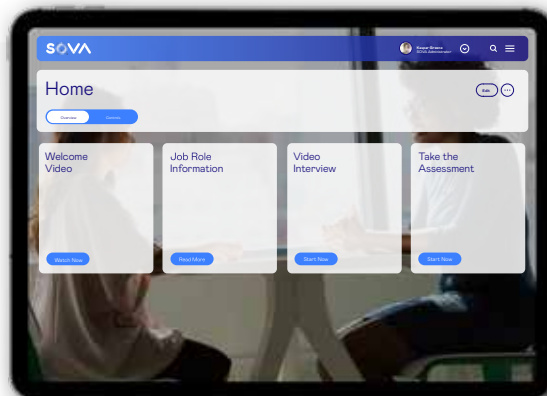

We believe this 'time limited' approach directly contributes to the levels of adverse impact often seen in ability tests.

How does it work?

We work with you to define how to measure what matters most for the role and for your organisation. You can then use Sova's platform to choose from an extensive library of flexible, scientifically robust assessment content.

Interactive Homepage

Interactive homepages are the hub for candidates and assessors. This is where candidates can access different activities such as watching a welcome video, taking an assessment, and accessing feedback. It's where assessors meet candidates, score and leave feedback. One central hub for all communications provides a better, more coherent candidate experience.

Choose your assessments

Almost any type of assessment can be blended into a whole-person assessment. We can include items from Sova's extensive library of assessment content or work with you to create scenario-based content specific to a role and organisation. Examples of assessment types that can be added to a Sova blended assessment are:

- Realistic Job Preview (RJP)
- Technical questions
- Situational judgement
- Personality
- Ability
- Motivational drivers

Business Benefits
