Cookie Policy

What are cookies?

Cookies are small files or pieces of information which are stored on your computer. They are created when you use your browser to visit a website, and there are numerous reasons as to why.

Why do we use cookies?

Sova Assessment uses cookies to help track website performance in order to provide us with valuable information, which further enables us to improve our marketing activities and online presence.

What types of cookies do we use and why?

Sppecifically, the cookies that we use are as follows:

- Statistical cookies: These cookies help us to improve our site based on how you use it.
- Marketing cookies: These cookies help us to provide enhanced functionality and personalisation.
- Functional cookies: These cookies help the website to function effectively.

How can I control cookies?

If you would prefer to turn off cookies, it is possible to do so by accessing your browser settings. If, however, you choose to turn off cookies, this may prevent you from accessing all areas of our website.

To find out more about cookies, including how to disable them, please visit <https://www.aboutcookies.org/> for further information and guidance.
